In the realm of mental health and counseling, maintaining comprehensive and structured documentation is essential for effective client care, legal compliance, and professional accountability. Among the most popular and widely accepted documentation formats is the SOAP note, an acronym representing Subjective, Objective, Assessment, and Plan. This method provides a clear, concise, and organized way to record client interactions, progress, and future strategies.

If you're a counselor, therapist, or mental health professional seeking guidance on how to craft effective SOAP progress notes, especially within the counseling context, this article offers a detailed example along with best practices to help you improve your documentation skills. We will explore the structure of a SOAP note, provide an example specific to counseling, and discuss tips to tailor your notes to various therapeutic settings.

Understanding the SOAP Format in Counseling

Before diving into an example, it's important to understand what each component of the SOAP note entails, especially in the context of counseling.

Subjective (S)

This section captures the client's reported experiences, feelings, thoughts, and perceptions during the session. It reflects the client's perspective and is often quoted directly.

Examples:

- "I feel overwhelmed with my work deadlines."
- "I've been having trouble sleeping and feeling anxious at night."
- "I don't think I've made any progress since our last session."

Objective (O)

Here, the counselor records observable data and measurable information. This may include the client's appearance, behavior, mood, affect, and any relevant test results or assessments observed during the session.

Examples:

- Client appeared visibly anxious, fidgeting and avoiding eye contact.
- Mood was reported as "depressed," and affect was flat.
- The client completed a mood checklist, showing elevated scores for anxiety.

Assessment (A)

The assessment synthesizes subjective and objective data, providing the counselor's professional interpretation of the client's current state, progress, or challenges.

Examples:

- The client demonstrates persistent anxiety and low mood, consistent with generalized anxiety disorder.
- Notable improvement in coping skills since last session.
- Challenges with motivation are impacting progress toward goals.

Plan (P)

This section details the next steps, interventions, referrals, or homework assigned. It guides future sessions and client actions.

Examples:

- Continue cognitive-behavioral therapy focusing on anxiety management.
- Assign journaling exercises to identify triggers.
- Follow up on sleep hygiene strategies next session.

Sample SOAP Progress Note Example in Counseling

Below is a detailed example of a SOAP note tailored for a counseling session with a client experiencing anxiety and depression. This example demonstrates how to effectively document each section.

Subjective

The client reports feeling "more anxious than usual" over the past week, particularly when facing social situations. She states, "I feel like everyone is judging me," and admits to avoiding social gatherings. She also mentions feeling "down and unmotivated," with difficulty getting out of bed most mornings. The client reports trouble sleeping, waking up multiple times during the night, and feeling tired during the day. She expresses concern about her progress, stating, "I don't see any improvement, and I feel like I'm stuck."

Objective

During the session, the client appeared disheveled, with poor eye contact and a flat affect. She was noticeably tense, frequently wringing her hands. Her speech was soft but coherent. She scored 18 on the GAD-7 (Generalized Anxiety Disorder 7-item scale), indicating moderate anxiety, and 14 on the PHQ-9 (Patient Health Questionnaire), suggesting moderate depression. No psychomotor agitation or retardation observed.

Assessment

The client continues to experience symptoms of generalized anxiety and depression, which appear to be exacerbated by social stressors and sleep disturbances. There is some progress in verbalizing feelings and identifying triggers, but overall mood remains low, and anxiety levels are moderate. The client demonstrates insight into her condition but struggles with motivation and avoidance behaviors, which impede progress.

Plan

- Continue weekly cognitive-behavioral therapy (CBT) sessions focusing on exposure to social situations and cognitive restructuring.
- Introduce relaxation techniques, such as diaphragmatic breathing and progressive muscle relaxation, for anxiety management.
- Assign journaling prompts to reflect on social fears and positive experiences.
- Refer the client to a psychiatrist for evaluation of medication options if symptoms persist or worsen.
- Monitor sleep patterns and discuss sleep hygiene strategies in the next session.
- Reassess anxiety and depression levels using GAD-7 and PHQ-9 in two weeks.

Best Practices for Writing Effective Counseling SOAP Notes

Best Practices for the Assessment:

- Be honest and clinically grounded.
- Connect observations to therapeutic goals.
- Highlight changes, improvements, or concerns.
- Use evidence-based language and avoid assumptions.

Sample Entry:

"Client continues to experience moderate anxiety, primarily related to work stress. While they demonstrate increased awareness of anxious thoughts, their ability to implement coping strategies remains inconsistent. Notably, they report feeling somewhat more hopeful about managing their symptoms, indicating some progress towards goal of reducing anxiety levels."

Plan (P)

Definition: The plan outlines the next steps in therapy, including interventions, homework, referrals, or adjustments to treatment.

Content Includes:

- Specific therapeutic interventions planned

Next session to evaluate coping skills and address any barriers. Consider referral to a psychiatrist if symptoms persist or worsen."

Example SOAP Note in Counseling: Putting It All Together

Now that each component is explored individually, let's examine a complete sample SOAP progress note for a counseling session.

Subjective:

"Client reports feeling 'more anxious than usual' over the past week, citing increased workload and family concerns. They mention difficulty sleeping and feeling 'on edge' most of the day. Client states, 'I can't seem to relax lately,' and expresses worries about not meeting expectations."

Objective:

"Client appeared tense, with clenched fists and rapid speech. Maintained minimal eye contact and showed psychomotor agitation. Completed the GAD-7 with a score indicating moderate anxiety. No physical health issues observed."

Assessment:

"The client's anxiety symptoms appear to have intensified, likely influenced by external stressors. Despite some awareness of their anxiety triggers, they are struggling with implementing relaxation techniques. Progress toward previous goals of reducing anxiety remains limited, but insight into their pattern has improved."
